

The Georgia Department of Transportation (GDOT) is partnering with the Federal Highway Administration to conduct a statewide travel survey to better understand transportation needs and preferences. The travel survey will be instrumental to efficiently address transportation needs and help us make investment decisions in the transportation network.

The information you provide in the survey will help local and state planners make informed decisions regarding transportation priorities, such as plans for reducing traffic congestion, improving safety enhancing transportation services, and improving air quality.

All information collected will be confidential. As such, no information about specific households will be released or published. Statistics such as: number of household trips per day; average trip lengths; and travel by time-of-day for everyone who took part in the survey summarized collectively will be used in the transportation planning process.

Travel experiences are unique and very important. No matter how you travel from place to place (car, bus, bicycle, etc.) , or even if you don't travel much at all, you have an opportunity to provide important input that will help define the future of your region's transportation system.

If you have any questions regarding the survey, please contact Habte Kassa (NHTS@dot.ga.gov) (404) 631-1797). Thank you in advance for your participation in this very important survey.

Sincerely,
